Thankful Essay

"Feeling gratitude and not expressing it is like wrapping a present and not giving it". This quote by William Arthur Ward makes me think of this essay topic because it is important to be thankful, but also to show that you are thankful. Thankful means to be happy for all the things you have, like family and friends. Four things I am thankful for are; family, friends, sports, and Catholic education. This essay will be about what I am thankful for.

I am thankful for my family because they are so special to me and help me with everything. Three things my family helps me with are getting better at everything, getting smarter, and they help me learn to be a better person. My family makes me feel happy and good. My family is important to me because they help me become smarter, better, and happier. They help me get better at everything by teaching me things I need to know.

My friends are special to me because they make me happy. Some things me and my friends do are play catch, football, basketball, and baseball. One moment where my friends made me happy is when we all went to Snug Harbor. We each went separately but were all surprised when we saw each other there. That night was so much fun. My appreciation for my friends is very strong I will appreciate my friends forever.

I am thankful for my Catholic school education and sports. Sports help me become a better athlete. School helps me become smarter. The Catholic community provides me with faith and guidance to make good choices.

In conclusion, being thankful means to appreciate the people in your life. Family, friends, Catholic school and sports are just a few things that I am thankful for!
