

When I think of things I like,
Certain things pop in my mind.
Loving family members that share and care,
love that roams everywhere.

Friends I see everyday,
and when together, we all slay!
Even my older brother, Chase.
Who stays up late playing video games.
My little sister, Elise, who asks if we can play,
“Sure,” I say, without any hesitate

Unless I have homework, from my teachers.
Who help anyone who’s a seeker
when playing hide and seek with knowledge.
Then knowledge sticks with them even after college.

Finally, dinner!
After all, we are all winners
for accomplishing the day that took quite a while.
But I got to see my friends, and that gave me a smile.
