

I Am Thankful for My Horseback
Riding Lessons
By: Siena Rossi

Did you know that you can be thankful for anything, even your horseback riding lesson? Well I am. I am thankful for my horseback riding lessons because I love it and it makes me happy, I love all the stuff you have to do to get your horse ready to ride, and it builds my stamina. I love horses, they are so beautiful.

The first reason I am thankful for my horseback riding lesson is because riding makes me happy and I love it. For instance when I ride I feel free and I love animals. Another example is when I ride I feel fast and when I do a two point I feel strong. In addition I also like when other people are in the arena as me because I'll be as good as them some day.

Another reason is my horseback riding lessons because I have to tack my horse and I love the responsibility. For example I get to do more horseback riding lessons and what I love the most is finding out who I am going to be riding with. Additionally one time when I tacked my horse all by myself then my mom said "you and your friend can go to Starbucks!" It was awesome. My last example is if I get to ride a horse at the barn that I have never ridden before I sometimes get a little nervous. I rode a horse named Teddy and he kept trying to bite my mom. It was crazy!

My last reason I am thankful for my horseback riding lessons is because it helps me build my stamina. One time when it was my first time riding at the barn I was upset because something happened at school but meeting a nice horse made me feel better. In particular, I also build my stamina by practicing my posting by going on my knees and going up and down. Finally, I also build my stamina because when I do a two point it helps my back get stronger.

To sum it up I think you now know I love horseback riding. I am thankful for my horseback riding lessons because I love it and it makes me happy, I love tacking my horses, and it helps me build my stamina, which i love. What I really love is that I always go with my friend. I love my horse backriding!
