

Plants give you oxygen, which you breathe with, and animals give you company and food. Water hydrates you and keeps you alive. It's something very noticeable that you observe every day. And why ignore it if it's so beautiful.

