

I Am Thankful For my Friends

By Zachary Mehta

What people need to know is that sometimes in life friends can make relationships. I am thankful for my friends because it is boring to have no friends, we can have playdates and sleepovers and they give me good gifts for my birthday. My friends are nice!

The first reason I am thankful for my friends is because it is boring to have no friends. You don't get invited to any parties when you have no friends because friends make school a better place. It is very lonely to have no friends. You would be missing out on birthday parties, Halloween parties, playdates, sleepovers and more stuff.

Also I am thankful for my friends because you can have playdates and sleepovers. For example, playdates are fun and you can do things like walking, biking, hiking, swimming and way more things to do. Also sleepovers are even better! you sleep at their house BUT sleepovers can only happen on fridays, saturdays or any school breaks. One time In my house my friend Arthur came for a sleepover and we stayed up till 4:00AM! So don't stay up too late.

The last reason I am thankful for my friends is because they invite me to birthday parties. First in birthday parties you play games, eat pizza and cake. In birthday parties they give you bags of the stuff you like at the end of the party. Last year I had a sleepover with my friend Arthur then the next day it was his birthday so we had a party. I am thankful because I get invited to my friends parties.

In conclusion other people should care about their friends because they make stuff way more fun. I am thankful for my friends because it is boring to have no friends, we can have playdates and sleepovers, they give me good gifts for my birthday and they make things a better place. Lastly, my friends are very nice!
